BOUNTY JUMPING.—Col. L. C. Baker, Chief Detective of the War Department, has recently made a tremendous haul of rascals in this city, Bounty Brokers and Bounty Jumpers. The revelations of the detectives prove that different localities, mostly in this State, have been credited with thousands of enlistments which never took place. One man was arrested who has enlisted twenty-seven times within a short period, receiving bounties of from five hundred to eleven hundred dollars and then deserting. About two hundred and forty thousand dollars were taken from one man arrested, and many others have made immense fortunes in the business.

Some of Col. Baker's men have done quite a business in jumping bounties, and the Colonel himself tried it once. One of the officers enlisted in this city one morning, receiving a large bounty, and was immediately sent over to Governor's Island. Here he was recommended, to a certain sergeant, who for the sum of fifty dollars procured him a pass to go off the Island, understanding that he was not expected to return. A broker had a boatman at the shore and the new recruit was brought to the city. He then crossed to Jersey, went out to Trenton, enlisted there in the afternoon and was back here by five o'clock in the evening. At one time Col. Baker went to a broker in Brooklyn, by the name of Devlin, and represented himself as Supervisor of an interior county and agent to fill the county's quota. He made arrangements for Devlin to do the business, he to receive eight hundred dollars per man. Devlin had the business done and received his money, presenting Col. Baker with enlistment papers to the number of the county's quota. This wily Colonel then induced Devlin to explain how the matter had been accomplished so quickly: and it turned out that not one man had been enlisted, but every one of the enlistment papers, certifying that one man had been sworn into the service here, to be credited to the interior county, was a forged document. The Colonel paid the sum agreed upon; but, while these worthies, Devlin and associates and Col. Baker, were laughing over their new recruits, the officers stepped in and arrested the whole party.

People have been cursing Provost-Marshal-General Fry, for altering the quota of this city from about four thousand to over fifteen thousand and not desiring to give our Supervisors any reason for the sudden change, it now turns out that we have been credited with several thousand of these bogus enlistments; and here Fry did not explain the matter because he wished to keep secret the manœuvers of Col. Baker until they were completed.

The Colonel did not wish the matter mentioned for fear of running the rascals before they were all caught. So quietly has his work gone on that the brokers whose friends were being arrested did not know what became of them, and advertisements have appeared in the papers of "mysterious disappearances," rewards being offered for men whom none but Uncle Sam could produce.—N. Y. Paper.

SAD CONDITION OF QUEEN VICTORIA.—A London correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune furnishes the following statement as to the mental condition of Queen Victoria:—

The Queen will not open Parliament in person, though she has been earnestly entreated to do so by her ministers, who would fain gratify the community by withdrawing her from seclusion and begin the season as brilliantly as possible. She is more than ever averse to society or publicity, and nobody seems to possess influence enough with her to overcome what appears to be a confirmed case of monomania. People who should know, ladies who have access to the palace, or are intimate with such, tell curious stories about her. I heard very recently that she had the arm of the late Prince Consort modeled in wax and clothed, and would pass hours, sitting with it drawn through hers, absorbed in melancholy reflection, recalling the past.

FRIDAY MORNING MARCH 31 1865

The Fall of Gold

It is a significant fact in connection with the rapid and steady decline of gold from 220 [illegible] scarce [illegible] that [illegible] which it seems impossible [illegible] remain [illegible] that a commercial rev[illegible]tion has not accompanied it And while the efforts of the speculators have not been able to send gold up again the stationary price of gold has resulted in the decline of general merchandise to correspond to it This was a natural result Gold had in the excitement of war times, and in consequence of the efforts of the speculators of Wall street whose great business for years past has been gambling upon its price been forced up or rather the Government currency had been depreciated to an extraordinary degree Even now with the prospect of peace at no distant day and with the prestige of so many victories it remains virtually at a discount of 40 per cent, which itself is an extraordinary depreciation taking into consideration the success of our Government and the resources of our people

Many confidently predict that currency will soon be worth its face in gold, while others are fond of predicting that the legal tenders will soon go down to forty cents on the dollar again Each is at fault, and with each the wish is in a measure the father of the thought expressed A long time must elapse before Government currency can be equivalent to gold from the simple fact that the war has in a great measure depleted the country of its precious metal, and some time must naturally elapse before the government can resume specie payment and until it does so, gold will command its premium, though that premium will as a matter of course be governed by the success of Government finances and the apparent approach of the day of redemption Those who sanguinely predict that legal tenders will go down below fifty cents again, have little to uphold that belief with It may be possible that some financial crisis will arise to bring them temporarily down but the result of the present panic cast is that the mercantile world is having to accommodate itself to the fall of gold, which in itself is one of the most favorable tokens shadowing forth most plainly the faith the people have in the Government and in the present success of our arms

Perhaps the most cogent reason for the firmness in the money market may be found in the fact that foreign capital is seeking investment in American securities Those who have been used to three and four per cent incomes on money very naturally consider six and seven per cent preferable, especially when sixty cents in gold represents a dollar that the faith and resources of one of the first class Nations, and the one with the most promise for its future, is pledged to, in time to redeem fully in gold while the interest calls for gold as it occurs Europe is coming to invest in United States Bonds No such other investment is offered them, and they will eagerly seize this when the timid spirit of capital becomes satisfied of the security. Our victories offer a guarantee of our success, and Europe reads it that way They judge of our prospects better than we can they are disinterested, save that they have capital to use, and use it according to their judgment There is no reason that Legal Tenders should raise above seventy cents, or that anything but disaster should send them below sixty cents We have no occasion to fear any defeat that can for a day stop the steady progress of our armies towards ultimate and perfect success With peace once restored and the financial departments of the Government working with success and regularity, it remains then to gradually achieve the desired result, and make National currency worth its face in gold

WRECK OF THE INDUSTRY —We have received a call from Mr Charles Shively who was supercargo of the lost bark on her late fatal passage and was saved on the first raft that left the vessel The Industry was 21 days out from San Francisco when wrecked, had been off the bar waiting for a pilot or for the fog to rise and the bar to become smoother, for ten days Captain Lewis of the bark intended, had the pilot boat not been outside, to have entered by the South channel which he considered the best, but as he saw the pilot inside beating down the North channel, he made for it and was half inside the bar when he answered the signal of the pilot boat, that he wanted a pilot The pilot boat was stationary apparently, on the South side of the channel near the middle sands, but when the bark was in hailing distance the pilot boat stood off into the channel Captain Lewis had the bark's course changed to correspond In so doing the vessel missed stays, there being very little wind and both anchors were cast Mr Shively thinks the pilot could have come on board at that time He says the mate of the Industry uttered the words "Edwards! Edwards!" Id words [illegible] almost the last thing he heard him say Edwards was in command of the boat, and the mate was, when he spoke looking towards the boat where he saw Edwards at the wheel

The officers of the Industry expected the pilot boat would anchor near or come opposite them in the South channel as soon as the wind served ready to help them, and had there been anything, even a skiff, to come to them between the hours of six and nine o'clock A M the next morning all could easily have been saved as the sea was calm and was not breaking at all Mr Shively makes this statement and intends and desires apparently to make no reflection on the pilots or any one else still there seems to be some explanation necessary why a pilot did not go on board the Industry when by all accounts one was within hail and the sea was calm Mr Shively as supercargo was aware that not a drop of water was on board the bark the last having been used that morning This fact made it necessary for the Captain to cross the bar immediately

SCARED A BIT —James Brooks member of Congress from New York City took occasion to abuse General Butler on the floor of the House, after his unsuccessful attack on Fort Fisher and the General sent him a note demanding an explanation The member appealed to the House for protection against the "Beast," in most pitiful terms, claiming his privilege as a Congressman We have not heard that he was offered any molestation or that he substantiated his malicious charges against Butler A member should hold his honor be as careful in not abusing any one in the exercise of his privilege as in claiming immunity by virtue of his position

CALIFORNIA BUILT STEAMERS —The new ocean steamship [illegible] will be ready in a few days to make her trial trip She is said to be a splendid specimen of naval architecture and is destined to run from San Francisco to Humboldt and Crescent City The keel of a new fifteen hundred ton steamship is laid at one of the San Francisco yards intended for this coast and perhaps for Portland The material has been carefully selected, it is said, from Columbia and Puget Sound

From the Army of the Potomac

WASHINGTON March [illegible]—Advices received from the Army of the Potomac say a great deal of firing had taken place lately the rebel opening in some [illegible] working parties as well as [illegible] No injury is reported [illegible] picket firing on the same part of the line is kept up constantly at night mainly [illegible] the rebel army [illegible] to exchange Richmond papers of the 21st

[illegible] prevailed here that a fight had taken place between [illegible] and the enemy [illegible] There is no foundation for it The troops are daily being [illegible] in breaking camp and packing up which probably gave rise to the story Deserters [illegible] last night in front of the Ninth Corps bringing arms and equipments with them

Affairs in Georgia.

The Milledgeville [illegible] that it is time Jefferson Davis administration and the executive officers were overhauled, and thinks the masses have been fighting suffering and paying taxes without asking questions long enough It announces that if the people of Georgia [illegible] [illegible] will hold [illegible] of all the soldiers in the State

The Montgomery Alabama Mail says The depression which is [illegible] the country [illegible] sapping the vital power at home and in the army

The [illegible] of the 21st says A party of [illegible] cavalry made a charge on Fort McAllister near Savannah and captured a working party of negroes engaged in dismantling the works The fleet opened on the Georgians and drove them away

News from Richmond.

WASHINGTON March 24 —A gentleman from Richmond reports that the rebels admit that the damage done by Sherman amounts to $[illegible] 000 He estimates the strength of the army in Richmond in entrenchments at 60 000 including the Home Guards and emergency men in Richmond He does not believe Johnson has over [illegible] 000 men though he has drawn several divisions from Richmond Deep gloom prevails in the city everybody seems to think the day of reckoning has come

The Richmond [illegible] says The conscription of negroes goes on with difficulty The guards stationed at every camp let the negroes escape

Great panic prevails among the blacks and there is much reluctance among the whites upon the question of arming the slaves

The Dispatch of the 21st reports that Kirby Smith has 25 000 negro troops organized and armed

The Examiner says There are in this city between 5 000 and 6 000 women and children belonging to men who have fled from rebel conscription to the North As provisions are scarce [illegible] commodities in Richmond, it is proposed to send them North

NEW YORK March 24 —The Richmond Sentinel of the 20th, learns that the rebel Commodore Hollins was not killed by Sheridan's men as reported

The Lynchburg [illegible] says The Orange and Alexandria railroad has not been damaged as much as was anticipated Only six bridges were burned and a mile and a half of track torn up

The depots at North Garden Covesville, Rockfish, Arlington and New Glasgow were burned

Sherman's Progress.

NEW YORK March 24 —The Tribune's special says News of the occupation of Goldsboro is confirmed by the statement of a trustworthy party who arrived direct from Newbern

Sherman's forces were disposed to march towards Moorehead's Station, on the railroad to Raleigh to destroy an important bridge across the Neuse The center had arrived at Goldsboro The right on the 21st formed a junction with Schofield's forces at a point eleven miles east of Goldsboro

The victory claimed by the rebels at Bentonville assuming their official statement to be correct amounts to nothing, but a momentary check of Sherman's left The next news from that quarter will doubtless be of the entire accomplishment of Sherman's plans

The World's special says The fight alluded to in the Richmond papers of the 23d as having occurred between a portion of Sherman's forces and Johnson's army is understood in military circles to have been merely a small fight with a detachment sent by Slocum to burn the railroad bridge across the river near Smithfield

The World's special dispatch says The report of Johnston [illegible] that he had met the enemy near Bentonville and routed them is regarded as referring to the cavalry flankers of the extreme left of Sherman's army who were surprised Sherman may have sent a small force in that direction for the purpose of cutting the railroad connection between Goldsboro and Raleigh [illegible] drawing Johnston away from Goldsboro which was being occupied by the main body of Sherman's army Information has been received that the occupation of Goldsboro was effected [illegible] of the reported battle at Bentonville [illegible] in a dispatch states that the [illegible] subsequently assumed the offensive this admitting that his success was only temporary and unimportant

Navigation of the Upper Columbia River.—The readers of the Oregonian will remember an item in its columns a few months since giving the idea of a proposition of Captain Len. White to place a steamer on the Columbia river above Kettle Falls, and stating that he had already started on his tour of observation. We are pleased at being able to record his safe return to our city, with the most flattering prospects of success in the great undertaking. The country has been thoroughly explored, and the most satisfactory results obtained, and Captain White seems to think that ere long the route to the head waters of the Columbia will be from Portland via Dalles to White Bluffs, by steamer and railroad 260 miles; or, by teams from Dalles to the latter point, via Klikitat and Yakama, 85 miles less. Thence by teams to Spokan, Pinkney City, and Little Dalles 175 miles. Thence by steamer again to the head of navigation, the distance, as given in Captain White's journal being as follows: Little Dalles to the Hudson Bay Company's Fort Sheppard 20 miles; Fort Sheppard to the mouth of Kootenai river 20 miles; from the mouth of Kootenai to Columbia Lakes 5 miles. There are two lakes, joined by a few miles of good river, and together furnish 160 miles of navigation in a northerly course. The river is then navigable some 30 miles above the Lakes, making about 260 miles of continuous communication above Little Dalles. Here the rapids Du Mort will prove an obstacle, but above this point the river is navigable 80 miles, which leaves the final terminus of steam navigation on the Columbia about 800 miles from Portland, at "Boat Encampment," where the river branches off in different directions. Little Dalles was selected as the place to build the steamer, the lumber for which is now being sawed at that place by a Mr. Douglas, owner of the mill. Captain White says Pinkney City near the United States Fort Colville, is a thriving village; has three flouring mills, two saw mills, some forty buildings, including two good stores of Olmstead & Co. and Ferguson & Co. a tannery, harness shop and brewery. Everybody appear to be elated with the idea of having a steamer on the upper waters of the Columbia. He found a few who were rather skeptical about the practicability of navigating the river above Colville, which, however, did not tend to throw a damper on the enterprise. We should like to give a description of the country traversed by Capt. White, but must forego the pleasure at present, promising as the stillness of that wilderness is broken by the march of civilization, from time to time to make suitable notice of it.

The Street Robbery Trial.—The trial of the parties under arrest for the knock down and robbery of Sunday night, was commenced before Recorder McCoy yesterday morning. Two of the defendants, Neeley and Monroe, were discharged, on motion of the Prosecuting Attorney, and the case was held over until one o'clock P. M. when the third defendant James Curnow, appeared, and the trial proceeded. The most part of the afternoon was consumed in the examination of some fifteen witnesses, and the strongest kind of circumstantial evidence in confirmation of the guilt of the accused was elicited. The defendant is a young man, but appears to have received his education and training in the wrong school. He was not identified by the man Wm. Cox, who was knocked down. The defendant was remanded to jail to await the decision of the Court this morning.

Reciprocating a Favor.—About one year ago we visited Vancouver, and while there, it beginning to rain, and having left our over-coat at home, we borrowed one from a friend in the village to wear for the time being. The steamer upon which we were to return appeared suddenly at the wharf and we had not time to restore the borrowed garment. Seeing a gentleman near by, to whom we had been introduced a few hours previous, we solicited as a favor that he would bear the coat to its owner but were admonished by the remark: "I'm no man's servant! sir;" that we had been mistaken in regard to our estimation of the man. Yesterday the same individual asked a favor of us, that we suppress his name from the Police report, where he had received a fine, in addition to a black eye, for drunken and disorderly conduct. It is done, for, under the circumstances, how could we refuse?

April Fool.—Aperire, the month of opening buds, or according to Charlemagne the "grass month," begins to-morrow. The first of April, is called in the English language "April Fool's Day," but the custom of sending people on empty errands, and laughing at them, is common in every country of Europe, and wherever the European races have settled on this continent. Two accounts are given of its origin. Oriental writers say that it is derived from the huli feast among the Hindoos, where a similar custom prevails. The older opinion is that it comes from a celebration of Christ's being sent about to and fro between Herod, Pilate, and Caiaphas. In France the fooled man is called poisson d'avril, meaning a silly fish, like a mackerel, easily caught. In Scotland he is called a gowk.

"Burying the Hatchet."—The old adage of "burying the hatchet" is generally conceded to be a healing of all feuds existing between the parties compromising a difficulty. A day or two since, on Couch's wharf, an ardent leader in one of the most benevolent institutions of the city, and a prominent Church member, who it seems had enjoyed a joke together too far, became embroiled in loud talk, and feeling ashamed of it agreed to "bury the hatchet." The next day one of them wanted to use the real instrument—and failed to find it—when the other told him he had buried it.

The Irwins.—These talented and agreeable artists, with Mrs. Getzler and the rest of the excellent troupe, who accompanied them, have returned from Salem where they have been detained by the appreciation of the good people there for nealy a month past, and will reappear to-morrow evening at the Willamette Theatre. They will perform here only for a few evenings before leaving for the upper country, assisted by George Pardey, the best commedian we had for a long time, Mortimer, Billy Robinson and others for effective support.

Accident.—By private letter from J. A. Carr, Esq., dated 27th at Umatilla, we learn of an accident to the train cook and blacksmith in his employ, which will very probably be the means of compelling a thigh amputation of one of his limbs. He was directed to pull on the break of a heavily loaded wagon, and catching the bar instead of the rope, slipped under the wagon and was run over. We did not learn his name, but he was known here as William—a colored man.

The Insane.—The unfortunate inmates of the Insane Asylum were yesterday permitted to enjoy their freedom in the yard, or promenade ground, in the rear of the south wing. It was the first opportunity they have had for a long time, in consequence of the bad weather, to get out, and the exercise it afforded them appeared to be of great benefit to their condition.

Plowing.—The city residents who cultivate adjoining tracts of land, were busy with the plow and harrow yesterday. The sod was being uprooted in various portions of East Portland, visited by our reporter. Acres are being cultivated this spring which never before grew anything but hazel-brush, fir and tall pines.

War on the House Tops.—A crowd collected at the corner of Morrison and First streets last evening, to witness the raving of a woman on the awning and roof surrounding the old "El Dorado" saloon building. What created the muss nobody seemed to understand, but the poor "Poodle," clean linen just from the wash tub, and clothes racks, flew miscellaneously for a short space of time.

Surveyor's Manœuvres.—Surveyor Burrage has struck bottom on Front and Main streets during the past two days, while hunting out a place to set the monuments authorized by the Council. The movements of the attendant were ludicrous in the extreme while he was endeavoring to plank the mud.

Recorder's Court.—August Bronster, John Reiley, and A. Patterson each contributed to the support of the Recorder's Court yesterday paying fines and costs respectively as follows: $13 40, $17 70, and $17 55, for drunken and disorderly conduct.

Death at the Hospital.—Fred. Hamilton a County patient at the hospital of Messrs. Hawthorne & Loryea, was buried yesterday.

Tin Ore.—The Seattle Gazette speaks of ore discovered near there and sent to San Francisco, which show the presence of tin, and speculates on the possibility of some one having struck a tin mine.

Li Po Tai.—A Chinese doctor of that name is said to be all the rage in San Francisco now. So says the metropolitan correspondent of the Sacramento Union, who estimates his monthly income at fifteen thousand dollars. Li Po Tai lives in state, with a brother by his side and an interpreter to translate for him. He prescribes simple remedies, which are prepared on the premises, and the secret of his success seems to be that he requires his patients to adhere to a simple diet, securing that result by the assurance that death will result from taking his medicine and eating any thing prescribed by him. According to accounts Li Po Tai is visited by crowds of the upper ten.

A Universal Medicine.—By what we eat, by the air we breathe, or by the water we drink, we can be made sick, because these effects end by producing impurity of blood. To regain health we must purify the blood by the organs of the stomach and bowels; these organs must be continued in the regular performance of that duty which nature has assigned them, and should there be any impediment, to what does experience point? To BRANDRETH'S PILLS, which cannot injure, and which will surely restore the bowels to the regular performance of their duties.

The dyspeptic, the bilious, will find them a treasure of health, and the same may be said to all who are sick in any way. Take BRANDRETH'S PILLS and be cured.

Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.
NEWELL'S
PULMONARY SYRUP
HAS CURED THOUSANDS!
And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences,

as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption."—Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAN COUGHING!

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supercede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

Pulmonary Syrup!

WHAT KILLED HIM?

Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!

Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

Anecdotes of Farragut and Grant.—A Scotch traveler who has recently visited the United States furnishes to the Edinburgh Scotsman the following anecdotes:

Mr. Osborn (President of the Illinois Central Railroad) told me a story of Admiral Farragut and his son. They were on the Mississippi, and Farragut's fleet was about to pass Port Hudson, which was then held by the Confederates. Farragut's son, a lad of about 12, had been importuning his father that he might be sent to West Point, where the military cadets are educated. "Old Farragut said "I don't know how that would do. I am not sure whether you would stand fire." "Oh yes, father, I could do that." "Very well my boy, we'll try; come up with me here." The Admiral and his son went up together into the maintop, the old man lashed himself and the boy lashed to it, and in this way they passed Port Hudson. The lad never flinched while the shot and shell were flying past him. "Very well, my boy, that will do; you shall go to West Point."

Of Grant who now commands the Federal army before Richmond, he told me this: In the first action in which Grant commanded, his troops at first gained a slight advantage over the Confederates. They began to plunder the Confederate camp in spite of all that Grant could do to stop them. At last Grant, who knew that Confederate reinforcements were coming up, got some of his friends to set fire to the camp, so as to stop the plundering. Then got his troops together as well as he could, and retreated; but in the meantime the Confederate reinforcements came up, attacked Grant, and defeated him. There were five Colonels under Grant who had not by any means supported him efficiently in his attempts to stop the plundering and collect his troops. Mr. Osborn saw Grant a day or two afterwards, when he expected to be deprived of his command on account of his defeat. He said, "Why do you not report these Colonels? They are the men to blame for not carrying out your orders." "Why," said Grant, "these officers had never been under fire before; they did not know how serious an affair it was; they have had a lesson which they will not forget. I will answer for it they will never make the same mistake again. I can see by the way they behaved in the subsequent action that they are of the right stuff, and it is better that I should lose my command, if that must be, than the country should lose the services of five such officers when good men are scarce." Grant did not lose his command, and three out of the five officers have since greatly distinguished themselves.

Love in the Wilderness—An Indian Marriage.—The Marysville Express of the 15th of March, says:

A number of straggling Indians, accompanied by their families and household goods, have of late been traversing the suburbs of our city, and at evening time they pitch their tents and gather around the camp fires and discuss the many changes that have taken place since the settlement of the country by the "pale faces." Last evening a wedding party assembled under an oak tree on the banks of the Yuba river, and a very interesting marriage ceremony took place. A young Indian who has been attached to a tribe which has its abiding place near Hock Farm fell in love with an Indian maiden who dwelt upon the banks of the Sacramento. The father of the young man was Chief of the tribe, and objected to his son's forming matrimonial relations with any other than "royal" blood. But Indian blood, like unto that of the "pale faces" is difficult to control, and the young people whose hearts had been quivering for some time past, were last night united in the holy bonds of wedlock, such as the Courts of California cannot put asunder. The bride was dressed in a red skirt with a sky blue waist, low neck, short sleeves, with "beads all over her," and her beautiful feet uncovered. The groom was crowned with a black "plug" hat, a swallow-tailed coat with brass buttons, striped pants and high-heeled boots. The ceremony was performed by an ancient "buck," and after the two were declared one, the company joined in a song, and marched around the lovely bride, the groom joining on the outside. Fried fish formed the principal part of the refreshments furnished on the occasion. The entertainment was kept up until a late hour, when the bride and groom were escorted to their lodgings in the willows, on the opposite side of the river.

Treacherous Conduct of a Rebel General.—A Nashville correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette tells the following story of the murder of Sergeant Arthur Lyon of the 15th Pennsylvania Cavalry by the notorious rebel General of the same name, on the 15th ultimo, in Marshal county, Tennessee, just south of the river:

"The rebel troops under Gen. Lyon having, on the 15th of January, reached what they supposed to be safe ground after their long and profitless raid through Kentucky, went to rest with a great feeling of security after reaching the south bank of the Tennessee river. The detachment of the 15th Pennsylvania Cavalry having watched their movements, surprised their camp before day on the morning of the 15th, with the best results. A perfect panic was produced, and near one hundred and fifty prisoners taken. Sergeant Lyon, always foremost on such occasions, found the quarters of the rebel General and entering fearlessly, captured the prize before he had risen from his bed. The General surrendered himself to his namesake, delivered up the arms which he said were all he had, and then asked permission to dress himself. This the Sergeant granted as an indulgence due one of his rank, who had, with apparent honor surrendered his arms; but being dressed, he took advantage of the indulgence and with a revolver that he had kept concealed under his pillow, killed the gallant Sergeant and made his escape through a back window.

Thus a 'high-toned' gentleman of the Southern chivalry—a general in rank—added murder to the ignominy of his dastardly perfidy and infamous cowardice. There is no justification for his treachery. An Indian would scorn such an act, for a savage knows enough of honorable warfare to know that the coward only, and the black-hearted coward alone, will take advantage of his captor by treachery and lies."

The Greatest Ability.—The London Spectator, reviewing the campaign of General Sherman, gives utterance to the following:

As a general result the North will doubtless feel deeply the encouragement of this great success—and venture to infer from it that the distress of mere military incapacity are substantially passed, and that in each fresh campaign they may look for greater and greater results from the genius of their leaders and their people's natural preponderance in strength. General Lee is now the only Southern commander who can be regarded as the equal of Generals Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and Thomas; it has been seen that the free States produces a greater crop even of military capacity, though they found it far more difficult to detect it on the spur of the moment, than the slave States—that the greatest weight of intellect accompanied the greatest weight of material resources—that the tendency of every successive campaign is to increase still more the chances of the North—that it only needs indomitable perseverance to succeed in the end.

Monotony of the Sea.—There is nothing so desperately monotonous as the sea, and I no longer wonder at the cruelty of pirates. Fancy an existence in which the coming up of a clumsy finback whale, who says pooh! to you solemnly as you lean over the taffrail, is an event as exciting as an election on shore. The dampness strikes into the wits as into the lucifer matches, so that one may scratch a thought half a dozen times and get nothing at last but a faint sputter, the forlorn hope of fire, which only goes far enough to leave a sense of suffocation behind it. Even smoking becomes an employment instead of a solace. Who less likely to come to their wit's end than W. M. T. and A. H.? Yet I have seen them driven to five meals a day for mental occupation. I sometimes sit and pity Noah; but even he had this advantage over all succeeding navigators, that, wherever he landed, he was sure to get no ill news from home. He should be canonized as the patron saint of newspaper correspondents—being the only man who ever had the very last authentic intelligence from everywhere.—Lowell's Fireside Travels.

THE ATTENTION OF THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY is again called to the OLD GREENBACK CASE!

HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF LEGAL TENDER NOTES AT PAR since December 17th, 1862, for the rent of my Handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public at large, that

Jacob Mayer

Leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years at which time there was no such currency known and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since that date, as stated, I have received the depreciated currency regularly, under protest for the rent of the

CITY OF PARIS STORE,

Making less than two fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED

In One Minute.

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

F. TILTON, Esq., 218 Battery street, Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers respecting the security of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such [illegible]. We have just sent for one of our men at the Factory, and he, in our presence, opened one of Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned off,

By One Blow of the Hammer

Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron knob inside.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.
Respectfully etc.,
A. E. TILTON,
WM. McFARLAND.

NO PRACTICAL

Lock Picker or Thimble Rigger

Required to OPERATE THE SAID LILLIE LOCK.

Any parties desirous of seeing the above mentioned lock, its insecurity and easy mode of opening the same, can call at 318 Battery Street, San Francisco.

GEORGETOWN, March 25, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 15th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKinstry & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as bar'l pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire faring, however, no better than ours.
Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed) GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,
Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,
GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disagreeable way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in those cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,
Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
